

RUSSIA ON THE VERGE OF GREAT REVOLUTION

LONDON, October 26.—A dispatch to the Evening Standard from Odessa says it is reported there from Sebastopol that the Russian battleship Pateleimon, formerly the Kniaz Potemkine, has been destroyed by incendiaries.

LONDON, October 26.—A dispatch to the News Agency from St. Petersburg says that two squadrons of Cossacks today attacked seven thousand workmen who were holding a meeting at the Nevsky works. About a hundred workmen, it is reported, were wounded and seven Cossacks were injured by stones.

The railroad bridge across the Obvodny canal at St. Petersburg has been destroyed.

CAPITAL IS IN AN UPROAR

People Fear the City Will be Plunged in Darkness.

Striking Workmen Are Now Marching in Outlying Districts.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 26, 5:25 p. m.—During the afternoon the alarm in St. Petersburg increased. The meat markets were raided by anxious purchasers and all the oil and candles were sold out. The people feared the city would be plunged into darkness, but General Treppoff acted energetically. The troops took possession of the water, gas and electric light works, and a strong guard was placed around the treasury.

Jewelers hurriedly sent their stock to places for safe keeping, and the shopkeepers continued the work of boarding up their windows this afternoon.

During the afternoon striking workmen began marching into the outlying districts and inviting their comrades to join them. The police and troops did not interfere, but by General Treppoff's orders the spirit shops were closed. During the day the pharmacists formally struck.

The police are becoming frightened, many of them offering their resignations.

Reports from the interior say that the troops are moving a few trains, but with great difficulty.

The strikers are tearing up the tracks in some places.

On the Bourse prices were very weak, imperial fourings dropping to 85.

WANT MARTIAL LAW.

WASHINGTON, October 26.—The State Department has just received news from St. Petersburg that 3,000 workmen are on strike in Warsaw, and the Governor of Prokov has asked that martial law be declared.

The employees of the Vistula railroad are also on strike.

REVOLUTIONARY MEETINGS.

WARSAW, Russian Poland, October 26.—Agitators are organizing revolutionary meetings in the factory districts, and a general strike is anticipated October 28.

The prices of food are rapidly increasing.

Telephone communication with Lodz is interrupted.

MUTINY ON SHIP.

LONDON, October 26.—A special dispatch from Odessa says it is reported that a mutiny has occurred on the Russian battleship Catherine II at Sebastopol, and that 400 of her crew have been arrested.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 26, 1:15 p. m.—Russia is practically isolated today from the rest of the Continent of Europe as the international train service on all the lines has virtually ceased. The tie-up in the interior is more complete than yesterday. The only trains running are operated by the railroad battalions.

The strike contagion is spreading. All classes of workmen are organizing sympathetic strikes and industrial life in the country is coming to a standstill. The situation cannot long continue.

MAY SOON STARVE.

Either the workmen will soon be starved into submission or pillaged, with military interference, and bloodshed on a large scale is bound to follow.

At Moscow 600 cabmen have already fought the strikers whom they charge with taking bread out of their mouths. In many cities, especially at Moscow, the

DEACON LOGAN SAYS HEART IS PURE FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

Employs an Attorney and Will Give Battle to the Officers.

"Do you think that I am a brute or a beast?"

This is the answer Henry A. Logan, back-sliding deacon of the Free Baptist Church, made to the inquiry if his protestations of religion were sincere while he was wooing Ethel Cook, with whom he eloped to Medford, Oregon, leaving a wife and child.

Logan was a member of the church, and one of its deacons for a period of five months. He states that those months were religious ones. "Do you think that I am a man or a hypocrite?" he indignantly asks.

TOLD NOT TO TALK.

When pressed to explain how he, a married man, could either in accordance with the laws of man or the laws of God, make love to an innocent girl of sixteen, he took refuge behind the statement that his attorney, A. L. Frick, had advised him not to talk.

Those who came in contact with Logan before he brought unenviable notoriety on himself and the sixteen-year-old Sunday school teacher, with whom he eloped, state that it was apparent that the only interest he had in the church was the opportunity that it provided him for having social intercourse with the innocent lambs of the flock.

This view does not appeal to the arguments of bread is becoming extremely question.

Collisions between troops and strikers are reported to have occurred at several places.

At Ekaterinoslav a regular pitched battle between the soldiers and strikers was fought and the city was left in darkness. But as a rule the revolutionary leaders are keeping their men in hand.

Communication by telegraph with many interior points is interrupted.

COUNTRY ALARMED.

The whole country is becoming alarmed, and in St. Petersburg an incipient panic prevails. The boats and the Finnish trains, now the only means of getting are crowded with people fleeing abroad. The situation here has grown much worse over night. The ranks of the 40,000 workmen from the mills and factories who joined the strikers yesterday were increased by 30,000 more this morning. All the employees of the port, 4000 in number, walked out and 12,000 other men from the steel works left in a body. The inhabitants of St. Petersburg awoke to find the capital resembling a beleaguered city. The shops in the Vasilievsky district and in all the suburbs are closed, windows are boarded and barred, and mounted patrols are to be seen everywhere in the streets. Except in the heart of the city, women and children are afraid to venture out. Workmen are gathering at all the places frequented in the days of Father Gapon, but they are quiet and the Cossacks have had no provocation to interfere. The general appearance of the town is menacing.

The prices of food have gone up and the supplies of bread are only sufficient for three days, but there are ample supplies of wheat and rye for two months. The Emperor and the court at Petersburg are supplied by a warship from St. Petersburg. All the families who can afford to live have hastened to lay in supplies to stand a siege.

The suffering falls the heaviest on the poor, who live hand to mouth. All the bakers sold out their bread before noon. The meat dealers have been ordered by the revolutionists not to deliver meat to the troops under pain of death, and consequently the soldiers are living on canned food. The butchers have notified their patrons that the meat market will probably be closed tomorrow, because of lack of meat. All the St. Petersburg schools were closed today and the children sent home with instructions not to return until their parents think it safe to do so.

MAY AFFECT LOAN.

The great strike promises to delay and possibly interrupt the negotiations for the new Russian loan. The international bankers who are here do not seem greatly disturbed by the situation, although they are constantly in receipt of threatening letters from the revolutionists warning them that if they contract a loan without the consent of the national assembly it will be repudiated. Nevertheless they are not disposed to close with the government until the situation has cleared up. The fact that the strike may jeopardize the success of the loan is one of the most potent levers behind the government and makes the foreign bankers the unconscious allies of the advocates of the far-reaching reforms which are about to be promulgated.

DEACON LOGAN WHO SAYS HIS HEART IS STILL PURE.

thought that he could bridge the great guilt that lies between his professed religion and his actions. At the present time he takes refuge in cunning. He smiles and smiles and smiles.

It is this smile that has grated on the nerves of Captain of Police Wilson, Chief of Police Hodgkins has been made nervous by it. Both state the action of the prisoner remind them of famous criminals they have handled.

An additional light is thrown on the character of the professed Christian prisoner by the letters which he wrote in the Medford jail in Oregon while a howling mob was outside ready to take his life.

rested trustee who still asserts that he has the purest form of religion in his heart, and that he always was a church member, because of his religious nature. Mr. Logan is, however, very tactful. While professing that he is still a follower of the meek and lowly Nazarene, he has the most violent objection to making a straightforward statement of the reason why he abandoned his wife and baby and lured from home a child whose immaturity and innocence made her an easy mark.

HE JUST SMILES.

Mr. Logan promised his interlocutor in the future an ample and sufficient explanation of his actions in running away with a child. He stated he

THREE SHOTS AT A THIEF

Fellow Manages to Escape After a Hot Pursuit.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 26.—Following a fleeing footpad and shooting as he ran, Detective Armstrong created a sensation and almost a stampede among the early morning pedestrians at Battery and Washington streets.

Three shots were fired at the sprinting robber. Detective Armstrong, Sergeant Campbell, Officer Engle and Thomas McCarthy, the man who was robbed, joined in the chase, and in desperation the officers pressed a horse and buggy into service. But the thief was not for them. He ran out Battery street for several blocks, gaining on his pursuers at every bound, and finally turned a corner into one of the side streets and was lost. Armstrong is still searching for him, but up to noon had been unable to find a trace of the man who so easily escaped him.

It was shortly before 5 o'clock this morning that Thomas McCarthy, a marine stationed at Mare Island, complained at the Central Station that he had been robbed in front of the Winchester Hotel of a certified check for $440 on the Wells-Fargo-Nevada National Bank. He had been about town with the man who robbed him, and when they started to talk of a shortage of funds he had foolishly shown the robber this check. The man grabbed the check and ran away and McCarthy hastened to report his loss to the Central Station.

Detective Armstrong, who had been doing night duty at the station, was detailed on the case, and Policeman Engle accompanied him and the man who was robbed to the scene of the robbery. A search was made of the neighborhood, and at the Washington street entrance of the old Postoffice building the officers ran right into the check thief. He saw them first and started to run, and it was then that Armstrong brought his gun into play.

From Washington street the thief, at increased speed, turned the corner. He was gaining on his pursuers, and the race seemed hopelessly lost to them. Sergeant Campbell here joined in the chase, and it was at his suggestion that a horse and wagon was pressed into service.

To beat the horse seemed to be just as easy for the robber as to outrun the over-weighted officers, and in a few minutes he was out of sight.

McCarthy describes the man who robbed him as a good-looking young fellow, well dressed and clean shaven. He would have no trouble in identifying him if he should be captured, but his capture seems doubtful. The payment of the check has been stopped at the Nevada National Bank, but as it is certified the robber will have little trouble in collecting its face at any banking institution.

LOOKING AT SPOTS ON THE SUN

SPOTS AS THEY APPEARED ON SUN TODAY. —From a drawing taken at Chabot Observatory.

Look Like a Marble But They Are Fifty-Five Thousand Miles in Length.

Hundreds of eyes were turned heavenward this morning, the attraction being a spot, apparently about the size of a marble, which appeared upon the sun's disk.

The spot was visible to the naked eye, though it became more distinct under the influence of smoked glass.

So general was the attention it commanded that Prof. Burckhalter made sun-spot the subject of an informal lecture this morning before the students of the High School, who are making a study of the heavenly bodies in Chabot Observatory.

THE BIG TELESCOPE.

The big telescope which the Observatory possesses was laid under contribution and, through it, the dark spot on the sun's face was brought within easy range of the eye.

Instead of really looking like a marble as it did to the unassisted eye, the discoloration assumed the appearance of a large letter "T" with a group of smaller characters on either side of both extremities.

Prof. Burckhalter, by means of the telescope, had the spots projected in silhouette upon a sheet of white paper and of this projection on outline exact as to contour and size was made for THE TRIBUNE by Paul Overend, one of the students and a fac-simile of the same, save as to some enlargement, is here reproduced.

SUN ON PAPER.

The sun as projected upon the paper represented a disk having a diameter of eight inches. Upon this disk, the spots, roughly calculated, occupied a space of about half an inch or one-sixteenth of the diameter. Dividing the surface area of 866,000 miles by 16, therefore, the class reached the conclusion that the spots in question covered a length of nearly 55,000 miles.

The class also reached the conclusion that the width of the discoloration was in the neighborhood of 40,000 miles.

Prof. Burckhalter said that sun spots appear frequently and are differently explained by different astronomers.

A similar diversity of opinion also obtained as to their effect. There was for them a minimum and a maximum period. This period comprises eleven years. During the first five and a half years of this period there was a comparative paucity of spots and during the latter they occurred more frequently and were much more pronounced in size. The professor said that this was the maximum period, but he was uncertain as to whether it was toward the beginning or the close of the same.

Professor Burckhalter, later, in one of the lecture rooms of the observatory showed photographic views of a number of sun spots of recent dates, some of which showed an obscuration 150,000 miles in length.

appearance on the western rim of the sun two weeks from Monday.

Meanwhile the solar disturbance which began on the 26th has increased and has traversed one-third of the solar hemisphere.

It differs from previous appearances in that it is a single spot, not a group. It affects the elliptical form.

Father Richard infers that the dimensions of the penumbra at 52,578.88 miles in width and 36,254.31 miles in length. The umbra is calculated to be 24,189.94 miles long and 12,094 miles wide.

These figures it is said will be greatly increased during the next few days.

President is Given a Royal Reception in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, October 26.—Gratitude for the immeasurable service he rendered her in his successful struggle against the yellow fever epidemic was the dominant note in the splendid welcome that New Orleans extended to President Roosevelt. Political differences were effaced and past antagonisms forgotten in a spontaneous demonstration of popular enthusiasm at the President's unfailing sympathy and practical help throughout the period of the fever's visitation.

GOVERNOR ON HAND.

At Harahan, ten miles from New Orleans, the President's car was switched from the main track of the Illinois Central and carried over the belt line to Stuyvesant docks, where the commodious ocean going Southern Pacific steamer Comus awaited him. On board the steamer were 400 of the leading men and women of the city, representing the various committees connected with the reception. On it also were Governor Blanchard and his staff, brilliant in gold lace; Dr. White, who fought the good fight as the Government's representative, together with his surgeons in full uniform; officers of the army and navy; Mayor Behrman and leading Federal, State and city officials.

TRAIN ARRIVES.

It was just 9 o'clock when the train ran into the docks, and there was an enthusiastic demonstration from the steamer as the President passed from his car and walked to the ship's side. On behalf of the city, Mayor Behrman extended a brief welcome and the guest was escorted by the Governor, the Mayor and President Sanders, of the Progressive Union, to a point of vantage whence he might have pointed out to him the features of interest connected with the trip along the city's water front. The President manifested the pleasure he felt over the distinct cordiality of his reception, and spoke with animation to the groups surrounding him.

TELLS OF ALLEGED 'RAKE OFF'

MANY FRUITVALE PEOPLE ARE ENTERED IN THIS CASE.
A large contingent of the residents of Fruitvale are in attendance at the trial of the suit brought by the Continental Building and Loan Association against William E. Rudell, its former agent for the recovery of $5,600 alleged to have been "knocked down" by him on various sales of realty made for the company while at the same time he was receiving a salary for the company for doing the same work.

One of the first witnesses put upon the stand this morning was Mrs. Eleanor Escherbrook, who testified that she and her husband had paid $1,700 for a house and two lots while it was shown by the contract for the monthly payments that the company was only to receive $1,110, the difference between these two sums it being alleged by the company being Rudell's "rake off."

The position taken by the company as explained by William Corbin, the general manager, while on the witness stand late yesterday afternoon was that "The company was paying Mr. Rudell a salary for attending to its business and whatever sum he could obtain for a piece of property the company was entitled to. Instead of this, however, he would quote one price to the buyer and a lower one to us and the difference between the amounts he kept and is what we are now suing for."

On cross examination it was brought out that Rudell had allowed some other real estate man, who had a purchaser for the property, a commission over and above the price quoted to the company that there would have been no objection to his doing so.

"No," replied Corbin, "if he really paid any one else the money I don't know as there would have been any objection to it."

And it will be along this line that Rudell's attorneys will make his defense. In the case of Mr. Escherbrook it was declared that a Mr. Pratt was at Rudell's office at the time the deposits were paid in and went with his wife Mrs. Escherbrook and her husband to look at the property thus purchased, and in each case so far, a third person was present at the time the sale was made who either went with the buyers to look at the land or was present at the time the money was paid and who Rudell will claim was the real person who received the sum being the difference between what the purchaser paid and the company received.

It also developed from the testimony of Mrs. Escherbrook that a horse car unit business was traded in for about $125 of the $310 she was to pay Rudell outside of the amount she was to pay the company.

Alfred Short another purchaser took the stand and testified that he had bought a piece of property for $1,500 and gave Rudell his note for $100 which he was paying off at the rate of $2.50 a week while keeping up his payments on the land at the same time. He stated that he had paid Rudell in this way $35 or $30 he could not remember which. He had most of the receipts which were introduced in evidence some of which, however he said he had misplaced.

Attorneys Gavin McNab and Ponte for the company have thirty or more witnesses in waiting who will all testify to the same state of facts among whom are the following: N. E. Lord, Mary D. Leslie, J. D. McFarlin, Elias Jones, N. E. Miller and wife Ida L. Young, Rosella Grosner, George W. Jackson, Edward Toal, Frederick S.

headed up stream with the President on board, and ran around the crescent, past Southport, where the President was enabled to obtain a view of the great levees of the Pontchartrain district and see vast fields of ripening sugar cane on the plantations lying on either side of the river. A few miles above the city the Comus turned and then passed slowly down the river, along the whole front of the Southern metropolis. On either bank the people lined the levees as the steamer preceeded on her way amid the din of the scores of motor craft and the whistles of manufacturing industries. Passing the Algiers point the Comus hugged the west shore and the President saw for the first time the immense steel floating dock of the Government and the naval reservation.

SEES THE CONVENT.
Further down on the east bank of the river, he saw the historic Ursuline convent enshrouded in the national colors, the United States barracks, where several hundred of the regular soldiers escaped infection during the fever and the unfinished shaft of Chalmette marking the battlefield of New Orleans and still further on he got a glimpse of the Federal cemetery, where lie thousands of bodies of those who perished for the Union. The Comus carried the Presidential party beyond the immense terminals under construction at Port Chalmette, and then turning, headed back to the city.

The evening was spent in singing and dancing and when all departed for their several homes they felt like the "surprise" had been a decided success. Next Monday evening Golden Gate camp will give a ringerade ball at Pythian Castle in honor of Halloween which promises to be a decided success, and on Monday evening, November 6, there will be a large class present for adoption.

TWENTY-FIVE PEOPLE ARE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Runaway Car Dashes Down Grade and Collides With Standing Trolley Car

NEW YORK, October 26.—A runaway street car on the New Williamsburg suspension bridge across the East River today caused the injury of twenty-five persons, two of them probably being fatally hurt. For a thousand feet down the incline on the Manhattan approach of the bridge, a Christopher street car ran with its brakes out of order until it hit and demolished a standing Fourteenth street car, in which were seventy-five passengers in this latter car most of the injuries occurred. It was ten minutes before the broken roof, sides and floor of this car could be taken off from the last passenger who was buried under the wreckage.

John Holden, motorman of the Christopher street car, who remained on the front of his runaway car, trying to stop it, up to the last ten yards of the downhill rush, was caught between the two cars, receiving a fracture of the skull and internal injuries from which he is expected to die.

George Bryld, an employee of the Western Electric Company, also suffered a fractured skull and was taken to the hospital, not expected to live. The Fourteenth street car, blocked by a truck, was standing near the end of the bridge above Attorney street. Its passengers saw the other car bearing down on them with a frantic motorman making signs that he could not stop. The men on the rear platform of the standing car jumped off in safety. The three score passengers inside the car fought wildly with each other to escape, but blocking the doorways. As the runaway car approached the rear platform, those near the doorway pulled back the passengers who were stepping out on the platform, thereby undoubtedly saving several lives. This platform was split into pieces a few seconds later.

The sides of the Fourteenth street car became detached from the roof and collapsed inward, while the roof came down on the heads of the imprisoned passengers. Men broke out the windows and crawling out of these openings, drew the women after them.

The Christopher street car was not so badly damaged, although flying glass cut some of its occupants badly.

The Delancy street police station was converted into a temporary hospital, fourteen injured persons being cared for there by surgeons who were summoned with all possible speed.

CAR MEN HEAR REPORTS

DELEGATES FROM LOCAL SOCIETY TELL OF THE GREAT CONVENTION.

George B. McHale and R. J. Scott, delegates from the Oakland local to the Carman's International Convention at Chicago from the 24 to the 28th of this month, report that they were very much pleased with the trip. McHale, who was born and brought up in California, in particular, says that he had the time of his life. After "cruising around" in the suburb cities of California for 45 years, Chicago looked like a large place to him. The only regret he has, on returning, is that he didn't see that larger city—New York. The reason he didn't was because he yielded to the hospitable invitation of his colleague, and visited the latter's relatives with him in the beautiful wilds of Canada. He says Scotch hospitality is boundless.

MAKES REPORT.
Mr. McHale made a report of his doings to the local body which sent him, one evening this week, in which he showed some facts regarding the convention, and when reported by the wireless telegraph in use among the members it sounded something like this:

"Your delegates to the convention at Chicago have this to report. We were much pleased with the trip. The convention was opened by J. W. Larkin, of Division 21, who made a very appropriate address, and then introduced the worthy Mayor of Chicago, Judge Dunn, who gave us a very good talk on 'Municipal Ownership.' The president of the International Amalgamated Association of Electrical Railway Employees, W. D. Mahon, then gave an able address along the lines of what the delegates came to Chicago for, and what, on their return, their different divisions would expect to hear from them. Chicago had the largest number of delegates, which was 45.

"Chicago is a great city, somewhat different from Oakland or from San Francisco in every respect, with its elevated railroads and forty-seven miles of subway. It was a wonderful sight to us, with its great sky-scrapers of buildings and the terrible crowds of people surging through the streets and when we stepped into a dry goods store to find that it employed 8,000 persons. They go to the trains to meet them, so as to get them to work on time.

HEAVY TRAFFIC.
"There is such a congestion of people in the evenings and mornings that the cars at times are unable to accommodate the travel, with both systems of railroads. As near as I could find out, there are more people in that city than in this State of California. The great stock-yards cover an area of 44 acres of land alone. We visited them, and watched them slaughter 900 hogs in one hour. From the time they kill a hog to the time it is ready for the ice house is but twenty-five minutes and they kill 1,000 sheep an hour.

WELL ENTERTAINED.

"We were royally entertained by the local divisions of Chicago. While we were there the weather was grand.

"There are quite a number of cable roads in Chicago, yet there are some electric, and when the heavy travel is over at night, they run horse cars. They run horse cars all night.

"We visited Niagara Falls and Buffalo, and from there we went into Canada.

"For my part, it was the trip of my life, being my first time out of the State. I found the Eastern people very sociable. We travelled about 7,000 miles, much of the way amid beautiful scenery, especially on the Denver & Rio Grande Railway."

Mr. Scott, the other delegate, runs on the Shattuck avenue line; McHale on the line to Hayward. Mr. Scott's report was also interesting to his fellow members.

LAUNDRY WORKERS.

At the last meeting of the Shattuck Waist and Laundry Workers' Union, Local 55, five new members were initiated. Tickets for the dance were reported by the committee as "going like hot cakes."

CARPENTERS.

Local No. 56 Brotherhood of Carpenters, at its meeting this week, initiated three new members, took three on transfer cards, and received application from two.

Could Not Be Better.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy has won for it a wide reputation and many people throughout the country will agree with Mr. Charles W. Mattison of Milford, Va., who says: "It works like magic, and is the best preparation I know of. It couldn't be any better." He had a serious attack of dysentery and was advised to try a bottle of the remedy, which he did, with the result that immediate relief was obtained. WEEKLY BUDGET FROM THE VARIOUS LOCAL LODGES

Applications, Initiations, Entertainments and Other Fraternal Functions, the Order of the Day.

GOLDEN GATE CAMP, M. W. A.
Golden Gate Camp, No. 1288 M. W. A., held its regular meeting last Thursday evening and there were several strangers admitted, and about a dozen applications received. Just about the time the camp was finishing the adoption of candidates an alarm was sounded at the outer door and the clerk was called out and what do you think confronted him as he went through the door? Well there was Royal Knight May Adams with about thirty other Royal Knights behind her and they all carried big baskets. The Watchman was helpless so they marched right into the hall and took possession. Any person knowing May Adams is acquainted with the fact that she is a very capable woman and she is a very capable woman. She looked for was the piano and her cry of "Boys get your girls for a while" brought the Forester team on the floor. The carpet was rolled up and dancing was indulged in until a late hour when the girls announced that supper was ready. Baked beans, brown bread pies and all sorts of good things were served, and when it came time to go home we were all sorry and told the girls to do it again, and we believe they will. All members of Golden Gate Camp are requested to attend the masquerade ball to be given by Golden Gate Royal Knights, next Monday night.

OAKLAND TENT NO. 17, K. O. T. M.
Oakland Tent No. 17, Knights of the Macabees held a very lively review last Monday evening. The attendance was good and all took an active interest in the review. Several applications for membership were received and referred to committees of investigation.

Chief Entertainer P. J. O'Leary who has been confined to his home through a serious accident, was present and as usual had a new story which brought the house down.

It was reported that Past Commander S. H. Reile had met with a painful accident and as a result was not able to leave his home. This was regretted by all present as the Past Commander is a leader in its affairs.

Past Commander Frank Garrison reported that during the day someone had appropriated his new bicycle which he purchased last week. The Past Commander was extended a resolution of congratulation upon the fact that he was losing his wheels.

Much good natured sarcasm was thrown toward the carmen occupied by Great Commander S. Y. Hall. Finance Keeper R. S. Keefer and Past Commanders Dr. C. Ellis A. L. Wolfe, M. F. Rembo, J. C. Scott, J. S. Carney, and F. S. Smith.

Many visitors from South Berkeley Tent were present and seemed to enjoy the fun to the fullest extent.

After the close of the review a game of progressive whist was played. Dr. P. H. Kelley and A. L. Wolfe winning the two prizes.

The members are distributing many invitations to the eleventh annual grand ball at Maple Hall, Fourteenth and Webster streets, Tuesday evening, November 7th. This promises to be the greatest social event in the history of Oakland Macabees.

ARGONAUT TENT, K. O. T. M.
An most interesting review was held by Argonaut Tent No. 33 K. O. T. M. Tuesday evening at Macabees Temple and was remarkable well attended. The members being much enthused with the business of the evening. Sir Knight Brown was reported about in the same condition. A delegation from Alameda Tent was present, and extended an invitation to visit Alameda some evening which was accepted and arrangements made to go there some evening in the near future. After the order of business was transacted, a game of whist was enjoyed.

Next Tuesday evening there will be a meeting of special interest as important business will come up for consideration and all members are requested to be present. After the business has been transacted a good time is promised all who attend.

THE ROYAL HIGHLANDERS.
California Castle No. 458 The Royal Highlanders met in regular session Tuesday evening in their Castle Hall 412 Thirteenth street and as usual a number of new members were initiated and a number of refugees crossed the draw bridge into the castle's stronghold. Clamen Eugene I. Rilea was given the entire short form work. A good attendance was present and a very pleasant evening was had. Chosen Next Tuesday evening the friends of the members. Good music will be furnished and dancing will be the evening's entertainment.

October 27th is the date fixed for the Highlander whist party.

BEN HUR COURT NO. 12
As was anticipated Ben Hur Court No. 12 had a very delightful time Friday evening. Quite a large delegation of members from Oakland Court No. 6 were present and brought with them their wives and families. The words of good cheer and encouragement. After a short business session the following program was rendered:

Musical selections by Antonio Grassel and the Misses Hattie and Albertina Grassel, members of the orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moon sang several selections. Miss Julia Grassel gave some fancy dancing. Arthur Windom a favorite of both courts gave a couple of recitations, and Miss Julie Marquand a piano solo. The evening was a most successful one. Cakes, coffee and fruit were served in the banquet room. Chief R. G. Marquand acting as master of ceremonies, called upon Brothers Foster Moon, McPherson, Wetzel, Windom and McPherson. Sisters, Ethelrick and Pulcrone who gave some enthusiastic and witty after dinner talks.

The balance of the evening was given to dancing and having a good social time.

PIEDMONT LODGE, K. O. P.
The conferring of the esquire degree to the conferring of the esquire rank of Piedmont Lodge No. 172 Knights of Pythas on six pages last Monday night was witnessed by a large number of those interested in the work, and it certainly was interesting. Supreme Representative Judge George Samuels, Deputy Charles Hood, visitors from Conco and Berkeley all took part in the conferring of the rank, and will long remember the earnest meets this evening as usual, in Loring Hall, Eleventh and Clay streets. Last Thursday evening was the regular night for nomination of officers, for the ensuing term.

Tonight will be election of officers, and every member should be present. In the election of officers, those who are best fitted to fill the different positions. It is expected that there will be initiation of new members. Last meeting the delegates to grand lodge, were elected and an interesting report of the work done by that body.

Next week will be installation of officers and other important business incident to the beginning of a new quarter.

The second Thursday in November will be the regular monthly entertainment of Veterans Lodge. Everybody invited.

Visitors from sister lodges are always welcome in Veterans Lodge.

VIKING LODGE I. O. G. T.
Viking Lodge I. O. G. T. will meet Saturday evening, as usual in Loring Hall, Eleventh and Clay streets, and it will be an important session.

There will be election of officers, and initiation of new members. The Viking Society met Brother Southwick in East Oakland the place of the next meeting will be announced in lodge Saturday evening.

IVY LODGE NO. 4 D. O. H.
An extremely interesting meeting was held in the lodge rooms, Monday evening under the direction of Captain K. Morgan of "The Blue Team." Next Monday evening the Red Team entertains at a Halloween party. Halloween pranks and games will have full sway. A grand and profitable time has been secured to foretell the future and forewarn the members of Ivy Lodge. A real old-fashioned supper will be served by the Red Team. A valuable door prize will be amongst the many attractions.

The members pleasantly greeted Sister Ella Van Court who has just returned from a visit to Reno, Nevada, and who delighted the members with an interesting story of her wanderings through the various mining districts in the interest of the Daughters of Honor.

Members come and see what is in store for each and every one on next Monday evening October 30th.

UNCAS TRIBE I. O. R. M.
At the last meeting of Uncas Tribe, No. 137 a report was received from the committee having in charge the proposed degree ceremonies. Much interest has been manifested by some of the other Tribes and we can assure them that, when purchased, the costumes will be among the finest in the reservation. Preparations are progressing most added to the fact that being no essential part of our plans and Chairman Mollie Schaefer deserves unstinted praise for what he has accomplished.

The whist tournament which the Tribe is planning for the 6th of November has been postponed. The committee having learned that another and distinct lodge of the same Order had planned a similar affair for the same date.

The members have been more than pleased to note the large number of visiting brothers that attend our meetings. On several occasions we have had Redmen from half a dozen different sections. The natural attractions of the Tribe hardly account for so large a visiting list, but the hearty welcome extended by our genial wicket guards, Brothers Travis and Whitney has undoubtedly secured them. Visiting brothers are always most welcome in our council chamber.

On the 27th sleep the regular drill of the degree team will be held under the direction of the Tribe Captain and a large attendance is desired.

OAKLAND HIVE, L. O. T. W.
The "at home" given by the guards of this lodge Friday evening was declared by everybody to be a perfect success in all respects.

The program was in the form of a Hallows-een entertainment and consisted of a drill song, recitations and piano solos by the wicket guards and a number of remarks by our State Commander, Lady Adolphe were listened to. At the conclusion of the program each lady presented a small card upon which was written a short sentence. These cards were issued in duplicate and the two ladies holding the cards containing the same sentence were partners for the balance of the evening. As soon as the task of finding their partners was completed the ladies proceeded to the banquet room.

In the banquet room were found tables beautifully decorated with smilax and greenery. Before each table was placed a small card, the name of the lady who had prepared the card. The program was a very pretty effect. The room itself was profusely decorated with yellow paper. Each lady received as a souvenir a small card with the inscription "Oakland Guards No. 14 L. O. T. W." on the back.

After the banquet all returned to the lodgeroom where games which had been prepared were enjoyed until a late hour when all retired well pleased with a pleasantly spent evening.

MARY VITCH, NO. 2 U. S. W. V.

We do not doubt the good intentions or good work of good custom tailors. We applaud their efforts and their methods—the only true method, by the way, which can produce Clothes of irreproachable character. We follow the same plan only on a more elaborate scale—a wholesale scale—and distribute our product through high-class retailers rather than to the consumer direct. The camps of Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland, Twenty-third Avenue are now preparing to give the Head Consul a great welcome and a glorious time when in the county.

Next Monday evening this camp will again greet its friends in a game of whist. The prizes will be more than adequate and the members are requested to be present. A. L. C. will conclude with refreshments.

OAKLAND LODGE, NO. 162, I. O. G. T.
The basket social on the 17th inst. given by Oakland Lodge in its new hall in the American Foresters' building was much enjoyed by those present. The bidding was lively, one box bringing as high as $5. The Grand Vice Templar, Miss C. Elsie, of Pasadena, was present.

Monday evening nominations for officers were made and the report of the delegates to Grand Lodge was given by the Past Chief Templar.

Next Monday, officers will be elected for the next quarter. A large attendance is desired.

An unusually interesting and instructive drill was held by Liberty Co. No. 11, U. R. K. of P. at their armory last Tuesday evening. Captain A. C. Farrell commanding, and under his able instruction this company is getting into splendid shape.

It is a splendid sight to watch a full company consisting of twenty-four men, knights and officers present the different evolutions and especially the sword manual, when it is given almost silently.

PLANS COLLEGE TO STUDY THE HUMAN SOUL

Woman May Locate $1,000,000 Institution of New Thought Near Santa Barbara.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—A despatch to the Tribune from St. Louis says: "The plans of Mrs. Charles F. Joy, wife of the former St. Louis Congressman, are carried out, a $1,000,000 university, of which the object will be the study of occult and psychic phenomena, the human soul, and all the arts and sciences of the 'New Thought' not recognized by established schools will be built overlooking the Pacific near Santa Barbara, California."

In addition to the University Mrs. Joy proposes to establish a sociological colony where the science of life and the laws, duties and responsibilities of parenthood will be studied. A site overlooking the Pacific near Santa Barbara, Cal., for the school and $50,000 acres in Arizona for the Colony have been offered for the institution. When the time arrives Mrs. Joy says she does not fear the funds will not be forthcoming.

"The age of prejudice and bigotry is fast passing away," said Mrs. Joy last night and the world is willing to be informed on what really is "new thought." This is the foundation upon which the school will be established.

"My plan is to bring about the founding of a university in which the great Trinity—the human soul, mind and body—will be properly trained, and in conjunction with the other end not the sacrifice of one by ignoring

FALL CATARRH.

Disease Prevalent Now, but Can be Quickly Cured with Hyomei.

A great many people suffer more with catarrh during the fall months than at any other season of the year, the changes in weather seeming to have a bad effect upon the disease.

Some of the cures made by Hyomei seem marvelous when one remembers that the patients had suffered from catarrh since childhood and that for years they had been unable to get a good night's sleep, on account of the disagreeable tickling and dropping at the back of the throat caused by this offensive disease. A few days' treatment with Hyomei brought quick relief, and its continued use made a complete and lasting cure.

By breathing Hyomei through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit all the air passages of the lungs and throat are filled with air laden with Nature's own remedies for the cure of catarrh. All disease germs are killed and the irritated mucous membrane is healed.

The complete outfit costs but $1.30 extra bottles 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer it will be forwarded by mail postage paid on receipt of price. Write today for a free sample bottle and consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Dear Sirs—Some years ago my hair commenced to come out and in a short time I got so bald that I was obliged to wear a wig. My doctor here advised me to use Danderine. I purchased a bottle of Danderine and after using it one week my hair stopped falling out. I am now on my fourth bottle and my hair is growing again. I am over five inches longer and my hair is growing again. I have also cured me of dandruff, which greatly annoyed me. I have also lost a little of my Danderine wishing you would send me a bottle. I remain, yours very respectfully,

BIBLE CLASS IS IN POLITICS

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR.
LEADS HIS BOYS IN CHEERS
FOR JEROME.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s Bible class took a plunge into politics last night, declaring for Jerome and cheering the candidate's name to the echo.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. in person led the cheering. It was his first appearance before the class in nearly a year, and the big auditorium of the Fifth-avenue Baptist Church was comfortably filled.

Rev. Dr. Rufus P. Johnstone, pastor of the church, addressed the class on "Our Young Men." The speaker outlined the career of a certain young man of Missouri who had done his duty and won a Governorship.

"Hooray for Folk," yelled the Bible class.

Switching to Philadelphia, the orator drew a second picture which the audience identified with cheers as that of Mayor Weaver.

"Even here in our midst," Dr. Johnstone said, "there is a young man who is honest, fearless and sincere; a young man who has done his duty so well in public office that the political parties will not have him."

CHEER FOR JEROME.
"The young man I refer to is not like one of those little puppets who dance at the end of a string."

"I will not mention any names," continued Dr. Johnstone, and the house rang with cries of "Jerome, Jerome."

"I think you all know whom I mean, and I add to all here every member of this class to see that your ballot is cast for that young man."

Governor Montague, of Virginia, Mr. Rockefeller's guest, spoke on "Higher Citizenship." In a voice of more oratory effect, Mr. Montague spoke for nearly an hour on the duties of citizenship and patriotism.

"If I were to criticize the American people," he said, "not in censure, if you please, I would say this: They do not take interest in public affairs; they do not when it is too late to take an interest."

PATRIOTISM.
"Citizenship is founded on patriotism. Citizenship is founded on patriotism, patriotism on morals, and morals on Christianity," he said.

"Perhaps we've thought too much of our duty, too little of duty to our fellow men. These debts are as tangible and real as promissory notes. My liberty stops where your rights begin."

HUMANE SOCIETY TO MEET

SESSION WILL BE HELD AT RES-IDENCE OF MRS. JOSEPH
MATHEWS.

One of the most interesting meetings of the season of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is to be held tomorrow, at the residence of Mrs. Joseph Mathews, on Oak street.

Mrs. Mathews has sent out cards to her friends, and to members of the society, and a large attendance is expected.

These reunions of this special society are among the most enjoyable social events of the season. They call together many delightful people interested in a philanthropic work, and they represent besides some of the notable "at homes" of the winter.

Mrs. William Ralston entertained the society at one of the most picturesque teas of the early summer, and among notable Berkeley affairs was the large tea given for the society by Mrs. Frank Soule.

Mrs. Mathews has a most artistic home on Oak street, and is a very cordial and hospitable hostess. For tomorrow's meeting an unusually interesting program has been prepared. There will be reports showing the progress of the work, and a musical program of interest, and best of all, there will be an informal gathering of people who are friends, and are besides, interested in a good cause.

Among those who have greatly helped the good work of the society are Mrs. William Ralston, Mrs. Arthur Holland, Mrs. Joseph Mathews, Mrs. Thomas Wade, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Oscar Long, Miss Thomson, Mrs. E. B. Sanborn, Miss Sanborn.

The good work of the society is steadily growing, and the society is stronger now in Alameda County than it has ever been.

The meeting at Mrs. Mathews' home tomorrow afternoon is called for 2:30, and a large number of guests are expected.

OLD KENTUCKY AT THE MACDONOUGH

In recent years there has been no such notable instance of enduring popularity in the theatrical world as the famous American drama, "Old Kentucky," which has now reached the thirteenth year of its existence in this country. Originally produced in St. Paul, Minn., in 1892, it has been before the public constantly, season after season, and always to gratify financial returns. No play of native origin has been performed in as many foreign countries as has this drama. Not only in the United States and Canada, but in England, Ireland, Scotland, Germany, France and even far away Australia, the piece has been phenomenally successful. The big company organized for this season's engagements in New York, Chicago, and the other large cities, with a brand new scenic production and superb equipment, will appear at the Macdonough Theater Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Sunday Matinee, October 29, 30, and 31.

Playgoers everywhere have been struck by the charm and force and grandeur by the chivalry and sentiment of "Old Kentucky." The heroine is a charming character, type and all the other characters have been sketched by master hand. Then there is the wonderfully clever score or more of little pickaninies that contribute a most enjoyable portion of the entertainment. The horse race is an exciting feature and is splendidly done. Theater patrons here—or, at least, the majority of them are familiar with the story, but a brief description may not be out of place.

ARCHBISHOP IS ILL IN ROME

ROME, October 26.—Rear Admiral Col. M. Chester, superintendent of the Naval Observatory at Washington, who arrived here yesterday, is suffering from a severe attack of lumbago, and is obliged to keep to his bed.

Archbishop Rordan of San Francisco has been suffering for some days from a severe cold.

LOTTERY OF LOVE AT YE LIBERTY

Mina Crollus Gleason has made one of the hits of her life in "The Lottery of Love" at Ye Liberty this week. She is playing the strong-minded mother-in-law, about whom the plot of the play revolves. When she realizes a giddy lapse, at sight of an old admirer, and dances the fisher's hornpipe, the audience wakes the echoes.

Mrs. McKee Rankin taught Mrs. Gleason to dance when it was considered a necessary part in the training of every actress. Frank MacVicar patterns his Captain Merrimac after an old sea captain whom he used to know in Victoria, and who has died since.

Mr. MacVicar played this part before. James Nell has never done anything funnier than his part in this play. It is, in fact, an exceptionally well-cast bill. Franklyn Underwood is seen for the first time in a rough comedy role.

L. R. Stockwell shows his thorough old-time schooling in the role of the father-in-law, who makes so much trouble by marrying the divorced wife of his son-in-law.

C. Hyde, spent a few days in Chico last week.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath the old-fashioned wig. Many now wish to conceal their hair in the same way, to conceal thinning hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair or bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff can not be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ can not be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparations will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Michigan.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

W. E. DARGIE, President

Business Office and Publishing House, 413-417 Eighth St., Oakland.

The Public Indecently Insulted

Much public feeling all over the city has been provoked by the setting up of an undertaking establishment on Webster street, in the center of a residence district. Good taste and a decent regard for the feelings of others should have discouraged the location of such a business among quiet homes. It brings the evidences and trappings of death continually before the residents of the neighborhood—a most unpleasant thing in itself, but also a positive injury to those possessing residence property to rent in the vicinity.

The legal right of the undertaker to invade a residence district and thrust the symbols of his melancholy trade offensively in the faces of the inhabitants thereof is now being contested in the courts. Whether they declare the establishment legal or illegal, the controversy is one that should never have arisen. Morally, the undertaker has no right there. He has knowingly outraged the feelings of many excellent people, and in doing so shows himself to be lacking in decent consideration for others and calloused in sensibility himself. No true gentleman wantonly affronts a whole neighborhood, even if the law gives him the technical right to do so.

Undertaking is a necessary and respectable business, and there is not the slightest reason why persons engaged in it should not be gentlemen of tender sympathies and with kindly regard for the feelings of others. Indeed, there are a number of undertakers in Oakland who in every way merit the esteem and good will of the entire community, for they are men whose fine feelings have not been blunted by their occupation. Their own sensibilities teach them how repugnant the presence of an undertaking establishment is among homes. They would not wantonly outrage the feelings of many respectable people, nor would they insult public sentiment on the ground that they are privileged by law to do so.

If the person who has set up the place on Webster street persists in remaining there, and the law cannot compel his removal, he should be made to feel the weight of popular disapprobation in his only tender spot—his pocket. Hit his pocket nerve hard enough and his brutal assurance will vanish. People over the city should refrain from patronizing him, for a person so inconsiderate of the living can have no respect for the dead. Let his establishment go without business and it will soon move away. That is the way to bring persons lacking in decency and respect for public opinion to their senses.

Secretary Shaw in the Doldrums

At Lincoln, Nebraska, Secretary Shaw, who is as lively of late as the Irishman's flea, declared himself in favor of a great merchant marine for the United States. He found the subject peculiarly attractive in talking to the hardy seamen of the Western prairies. But unfortunately he left his hearers to discover for themselves how the turbid Missouri and the stormy Platte should be made to whiten with the sails of commerce. Among other things, the Secretary said: "I don't want any one to go away from here and quote me as being in favor of a ship subsidy. I have never said I was in favor of a ship subsidy. I am in favor of the merchant marine and I don't want to be quoted as favoring anything else. I leave it to you to discover the way to get the merchant marine."

If Secretary Shaw were to interview every man, woman and child, and Dr. Mary Walker, in the United States he would probably find every one enthusiastic in favor of a great American merchant marine. Even the babes in arms would probably come as near explaining how one is to be obtained as the Secretary of the Treasury did. But he throws out a hint which some people may find suggestive. He does not want the bold mariners of the Big Blue and the Loup Fork to go away with the idea that he advocates ship subsidies, but he clearly intimates that he thinks ship subsidies would turn the trick. What else does he mean by this: "And we have started in to subsidize commerce. We have better railroads and cheaper freight rates than any other country; we can get our goods to the coast and there we stop. We have no ships. I am saying this to make you think. I want a merchant marine, but I do not know how to get it."

Why does not Secretary Shaw talk out like a man? Why does he hint and furtively suggest a policy which he is careful to disclaim? If he knows of no way to get a merchant marine why waste time telling the people how much he desires the country to have one?

Everybody shares that desire. What is wanted is some one to point the way. This is the office of statecraft. Secretary Shaw leads his hearers to a blind trail and tells them he cannot guide them any further. He is swinging around the circle making speeches and otherwise advertising himself as a candidate for President in 1908. A true statesman does not raise issues only to evade them; does not point out public needs only to admit that he is at a loss how they shall be met. Secretary Shaw is disappointing. There was never a time in the history of the Nation when candor and courage in public men were so much admired as now. This potent fact seems to have escaped the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury; at any rate, he is not profiting by knowledge of it, but on the contrary is only building up illusory hopes to dash them to earth again.

He talks like a man who really favors ship subsidies, but is afraid to say so.

The palaver about government by the dead hand is only a whimper for a continuance of the dead clinch.

As a gifted and ornate liar George D. Collins is without a peer. He could give Falstaff cards and spades and easily beat him out. The beauty of his lying is that it deceives nobody. His assertion that he returned to San Francisco to stand trial because of his patriotic attachment to the land of his birth is positively magnificent. Even an organ for the telephone monopoly could not do better.

The Dixon Tribune says the people of Vallejo have all along "perused" a dog-in-the-manger policy. 'Tis a sad perusal, truly; smacking of mange, fleas, midnight barkings, howling at the moon and other interferences with slumber. But if Vallejo insists upon having a dog-in-the-manger policy, why peruse it? Why not stuff it for sausage or bale it for hay? But to peruse it—why, that is uncanonical.

Football Amenities in Minnesota

Here is the way the Minneapolis Journal sizes up the crack football eleven of the University of Nebraska:

"A gentleman who loves scenes of violence came into the office yesterday bearing pictures of the eleven tender sprouts who make up the Nebraska football branch. It was a fearsome sight, calculated to make the stoutest heart quail. If you never saw crime written on a countenance, you should examine these eleven vindictive mugs and there read eleven continued stories of violence, sand-bagger, midnight murder and thuggism. They would take your watch. The Nebraska team could not face any judge in this broad land of ours without His Honor at once giving them thirty days apiece anyhow, and as much more as the facts brought out at the subsequent trials would warrant.

"Having no interest, or little, in the team supported by the young gentlemen of the Minnesota State university, we do not know whether violence and brutality are written on their fair young faces also, but if this team is to be run up against the livers from Nebraska, we hope for the worst. Unless the plan is to sand-bag the gentlemanly Minnesota eleven before the ball is put into action and play is called, we mistake the variety of mug hung out on the fronts of the Nebraska thugs.

"We hope to hear from Doc Bixby of Lincoln on this matter. We would like to know if the doctor stands for the varieties of crime there represented or thinks for one moment that brutality and violence can tread down the gentlemanly and skilful football played by the Minnesota children. By heaven, never!"

We judge from the above that the University of Minnesota team was smashed and defeated by the rough customers from the wind-swept State of William Jennings Bryan. The article reads as if the captain of the defeated eleven had penned it. In the vernacular of Arizona it is sure hotstuff. The next time the Nebraskans visit Minnesota they had better let the home team win if they know what is good for them. They can't afford to have the truth told about them in such frank neighborly fashion.

What President Roosevelt said at Mobile regarding the necessity for keeping alive the martial spirit of the people and the Nation being prepared for defense is but the application to present-day conditions of the aphorisms of old Adam Smith in "Wealth of Nations." Adam Smith declared that a nation in which the martial spirit is not kept alive, and which is not prepared and able to defend itself from attack, is not a complete or virile nation; lacking, as he said, not only the power but the will to defend itself. The martial spirit cannot be kept alive without martial exercise and the implements and paraphernalia of war. Hence the martial spirit must die in a nation which discards the weapons of war and instruction in martial exercise. That is precisely the doctrine of President Roosevelt. Cultivate the arts of peace, he says, but be prepared to defend yourself,—i. e., speak softly, but carry a big stick.

Jerry Simpson, who died in Wichita, Kansas, the other day was derisively called "the Sockless Socrates of Medicine Lodge." He was made the butt of much sarcastic and humorous comment—some of it pointed and goodnatured and still more of it pointless and malicious, but some things were never said of him. He served several terms in Congress, but his integrity was never impugned; he was often accused of being a crank, but never a crook. He was mistaken in many things, but it is to his credit that he fearlessly followed the dictates of his conscience. Populism produced Simpson; the Republican renaissance produced Burton. As between these two, Populism carries off the honors.

TREATMENT OF PAVEMENTS.

They took a little gravel
And they took a little tar
With various ingredients
Imported from afar.

They hammered it and rolled it,
And when they went away
They said they had a pavement
That would last for many a day.

But they came with picks and smote it,
To lay a water main;
And they called the workmen
To put it back again.

To run a railway cable
They took it up some more;
And they put it back again
Just where it was before.

They took it up for conduits
To run the telephone;
And then they put it back again
As hard as any stone.

They took it up for wires
To feed the electric light,
And then they put it back again,

Which was no more than right.

Oh, the pavement's full of furrows;
There are patches everywhere;
You'd like to ride upon it,
But it's seldom that you dare.

It's a very handsome pavement,
A credit to the town;
They're always diggin' of it up
Or puttin' of it down.

NEVER CALLED AGAIN.

While Senator Hanna, as chairman of the National Republican Committee, was conducting the campaign in 1900 he was greatly annoyed by a man who applied for the position of messenger at the national headquarters. This man had called to see the Senator four days in succession to present his application.

After the fourth visit Senator Hanna sent for the man who was then serving as messenger.

"You said that man who was here just now?" inquired Hanna.

"Yes, sir," said the messenger.

"Do you know what he wants?"

"No, sir."

"Well, he wants your place, and if I see him again he will get it."

Senator Hanna never saw the applicant again.—Boston Herald.

LEEVE IS AGAIN ATTACKED

THIS TIME MEN USE DYNAMITE BUT FAIL TO OPEN IT.

POINT RICHMOND, October 24.—Another attack was made on the levee last night obstructing the passage of the city's sewerage to the bay. A crowd of men dynamited it last night and instead of opening it larger filled it up. A representative of the Point Richmond Canal and Land Company came over this morning and forbade its being reopened.

Just what the next move will be is not known but it is felt here that the determined men who picked and shoveled a hole through the levee and let the tide come in will not stop until free access is given to the sawyer with the waters outside.

FISH PLANTED IN ARROYO MOCHO

GAME WARDENS DEPOSIT TEN THOUSAND TROUT IN THE STREAM.

LIVERMORE, October 24.—The State Board of Fish Commissioners had 10,000 young trout planted last Sunday in the Arroyo Mocho, the fish being brought here by Deputy State Game Warden Welch and taken up the creek by the local game warden Harry Morrill together with several other local members of the Alameda County Fish and Game Protective Association. Half of the young steelhead trout were put into the stream at Antone John Performance place six miles from town and the other 5,000 were placed twelve miles from here, near the Livermore Water & Power Company's tunnel in Cedar Mountain. It is expected that they will make good fishing as soon as the season opens next April, as they should be about six inches long when they drive.

GOOD BOYS AT $150 PER YEAR.

The cost of a school for the development of good boys is thus stated by Eugene Wood in his article, "A School for Boys," in the October Everybody's.

"It costs the State of Ohio about $150 a year for each boy. A useful, capable man is worth to society, on the average, $10,000. These 11,000 boys cost the State of Ohio, then, say $2,000,000. Say 7,000 of them were rescued. That is $70,000,000 recovered to society on the investment of $2,000,000. It has been figured that every criminal does about $2,000 damage a year, leaving entirely out of the estimate what it costs to maintain our our plant for the detection, prevention and punishment of crime. Each man will be a criminal not less than twenty years. That's $40,000 damages multiplied by 70,000 boys, or $2,800,000,000 damages saved, not counting the cost of the anti-criminal plant. Has it paid to run the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster?"

"And even if it hadn't paid financially isn't it worth while?"

"I am a poor man," says John A. McCall. "And," he might have added, "I am a poor president."

NEW YORK, October 28.—A simple announcement in yesterday's papers told the friends of Miss Helena Sharpsteen, a Boston society girl, and of Errol Dunbar, a well-known actor, that their romance of more than a year had resulted in a wedding. It was announced last winter that they were to be wed in February, but when Mr. Dunbar was called West to fill an engagement, the ceremony was postponed. This is what told yesterday of their wedding:

DUNBAR-SHARPSTEEN.—On Sunday, Oct. 8, 1905, at the Church of the Transfiguration, Providence, R. I., by the Rev. George C. Houghton, Mary Helena Sharpsteen, of Boston, to Errol Dunbar.

Miss Sharpsteen, an amateur actress of unusual ability, having appeared with a company supporting her at the Park Theater, in Boston, as Count St. Louis de Richelieu in the famous old comedy from the French, "Richelieu at Sixteen." She met Dunbar when he was playing a leading part at the Boston Museum, it having been, according to both, a case of love at first sight.

The actor was taking a curtain call when he saw her sitting in a box, and, asking a mutual friend for an introduction, soon after made known his admiration for the heiress.

Miss Sharpsteen is the only daughter of the late Clark L. Sharpsteen, for many years a member of the Paris house of a well-known dry goods firm in Manhattan. She will inherit his entire estate of several millions as soon as she becomes of age. She now is in possession of an annual income from the estate of $50,000. She also inherited a second fortune a year ago from her aunt, the wife of Professor Michael, the well-known authority on chemistry. The bride was born and educated in Paris, but her mother was a Philadelphia resident. She spends her summers at Providence or Newport.

NEW YORK, October 28.—Kneeling at the bedside of her sweetheart, whom she believed to be dying, Miss Elsie Anderson, a prominent young society girl of this city, was secretly married on October 4 to Hubert Hutchinson, member of the Wall Street brokerage firm of Laidlaw and Co.

The ceremony was performed by the girl's father, the Rev. Thomas W. Anderson, of No. 356 West Thirtieth street, and was witnessed only by the mother of the young man and one other person.

On September 6 the young broker was taken violently ill in his office at No. 45 Broadway, and was removed to St. Luke's Hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from appendicitis. An operation followed.

Miss Anderson and Mr. Hutchinson had been engaged for some months, and at the hospital she was constantly in attendance at his bedside, but he grew weaker until Dr. Curtis, the house physician, said that he could not recover.

When the young broker was told that he must die, he asked to be married. The girl knelt at the bedside of her sweetheart, whom she believed to be dying, and lifted him tenderly in her arms, while her father pronounced the words that bound them together for the few hours which the doctors had declared he had to live.

From the hour of his strange marriage the young broker seemed to take a new grip on life and, defying the prophecy of the doctors, began to gain strength. At the hospital last night it was said that his chances of recovery are good, and that, if no complications set in, he will be able to leave the institution and start on his honeymoon in about two weeks.

Mr. Hutchinson is the junior member of the Stock Exchange house of Laidlaw & Co. He is a young man of considerable wealth and high social position. He lives with his mother on their estate at Baldwin, L. I.

NEW YORK, October 28.—It was while dreamily listening to the gossip of his barber, Mathias Glaser, while being shaved, that William J. Petersen, a wealthy druggist and resident of the Park Slope, in Brooklyn, heard of the alleged disloyalty of his wife, Mrs. Josephine Petersen. He caused a sensation in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, yesterday, when he testified to this and to the developments which led him to bring a suit for absolute divorce, and named Cornelius T. Tracy, a rich furniture dealer, whose store adjoins his own.

It was brought out, too, that Glaser was ignorant at first that he was talking to the alleged wronged husband in the case.

The testimony was listened to by many friends of the Petersens in the social set in which they have for years been prominent. They were married in 1888, and their wedded life was a dream of happiness, according to the testimony, until a year ago, when the barber's stories, interspersed with questions of "Does the razor suit?" started the investigation that ended in a suit for divorce. The barber did not figure in this suit, which ended in a disagreement. His role was reserved for the second suit, which began yesterday.

On the stand Mr. Petersen testified that after listening to the stories of his barber, he employed three detectives and received evidence of late night strolls through Prospect Park, of late wine suppers and of other acts of indiscretion on the part of his wife. The detectives traced Mrs. Petersen's movements and were ready to tell of them in detail from the time she joined Mr. Tracy near her own home, at Fifth Avenue and Fourteenth street.

Mr. Petersen then told of tracing the couple to a hotel in Dufield street. The register of the hotel was placed in evidence after detectives had testified that Mr. Tracy signed it.

NEW YORK, October 28.—"My husband's love of racing has broken up our home. For years he bet in pool-rooms and sent money to the tracks to be placed on his selections. All that time I was limited to a scanty allowance with which to keep our home. Five years ago he bought a race horse in partnership with the man he now accuses of being too friendly with me."

—Mrs. May Jenks, who is suing for separate maintenance.

Thomas Jenks and his wife lived at No. 221 Madison street, Brooklyn. Jenks, one of the officers of the Ansonia Clock Company, invited his race-track friends to his home. Now he accuses three of them of having been too friendly with Mrs. Jenks, of having given her presents, and of having turned her wifely affections from him.

"It was my husband himself who introduced to me Peter Hochsander, 'Jim' Gibson and Fred Timmas, of whom he now complains," declares Mrs. Jenks. "If they didn't come to our home evenings he would go after them and bring them. Then they would talk racing, and I would often say that if they couldn't talk something to interest a lady I would go to bed."

"Many a time I went to visit Mr. Hochsander's mother, just to leave the men to themselves. My husband and Mr. Hochsander bought the black gelding Dukedom and raced him, but the horse never won."

"We were all good friends for five years, until, last August, my husband became jealous."

"Now look what racing has brought him to. He has held me, his wife of twenty-six years, before the world as unworthy. He has left the home I have always tried so hard to keep pretty and inviting. His income has gone as fast as he made it."

NEW YORK, October 28.—"My wife had several failings, chiefly a tendency to fall in love, with every gentleman I took to my home, an uncontrollable desire to throw at me household articles, the heavier the better, and a preference for the strongest intoxicating liquors. She once got one of her callers to beat me."

Thomas Jenks, a member of the Ansonia Clock Company, said this yesterday in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, in answer to the motion of his wife, Mary J. Jenks, for $20 a week alimony and $500 counsel fee, pending the trial of her action for separation.

Mrs. Jenks charged her husband with having continually beaten her and used violent language from the day of their marriage in Stratfordshire, England, August 7, 1885, to August 10, last, when, she said, she was in such fear for her life that she was forced to leave him and go to her summer home in Sullivan county.

Mr. Jenks made a general denial, and said that Mrs. Jenks had done all in her power to "drive him to an early grave."

Jenks is fifty-three and his wife thirty-eight years old. Six years ago, Jenks said, he purchased a house in Flatbush and decided it to his wife, a "fatal error," he declared. He said he introduced her to a few friends, and that she at once began receiving presents, letters and money from all of them.

Once, he said, he found her entertaining one of these friends in the kitchen, and urged the visitor to beat her husband, which was done. Jenks says he bore the marks of the attack for several weeks.

The husband also said that in August she sold his house and told him to go to a hospital or some other institution for life. Justice Maddox reserved decision.

NEW YORK, October 28.—An alleged female "fagin" was discovered in Brooklyn when Miss Agnes Reed, twenty-eight years old, of 1886 Dean street, was arraigned before Magistrate Furlong in the Gates Avenue Court on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

The complainant, Rosa King, twenty years old, of 1810 Atlantic Avenue, admitted stealing the goods in question, which included an Angora cat, the property of a woman she formerly worked for.

Miss King declared she stole at the command of Miss Reed and said that the latter held her under a hypnotic spell. The younger woman was employed as a domestic by Mrs. Frederick N. Le Baron, 12 Glenada place, and on the night of September 7 last she stole $25 belonging to her mistress and turned the money over to Miss Reed.

The latter is said to have ordered Rosa to take the $25 under the threat of being beaten. Later the Reed woman commanded Rosa to take the Angora cat, and this also was turned over to Miss Reed. Rosa explained just how the Reed woman came to Mrs. Le Baron's house and commanded her to get the cat.

"I let the cat down the dumb waiter, and she's got it now," said Rosa.

In her efforts to make restitution Rosa had the Reed woman hauled to court to get back the cat. Miss Reed is a pretty, dark-complexioned woman. She has a round, chubby face and black, wavy hair, fixed in a pompadour. Her eyes are big and dark. The eyes are peculiar.

"They fascinate anybody," Rosa King declared. "When they are fixed on me I feel very strangely."

Tears filled the dark eyes of Miss Reed as she denied the charge, and was held under $300 bail for examination. Miss King was also held as a witness. Mrs. Le Baron was not in court.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., October 28.—Miss Scythia Ferguson of Bardonia, Ky., but now living with her brother at 2024 Washington Avenue, St. Louis, who is suing William Kennedy, a wealthy Iowa farmer, in the United States Court in Council Bluffs for breach of promise of marriage, had 105 of the farmer's letters read to the jury.

The queer mixture of business, sentiment and gluttony contained in the letters caused much amusement. One of the letters read:

"For Christmas I want 105 kisses, fourteen Kentucky pies, five blackberry cakes, a peck of doughnuts, a twenty-pound turkey and a pan of hot biscuits."

In another letter Kennedy wrote: "How nice it is that you are not going to work this winter. You can put your feet under mamma's table and be nice and fat next spring. I don't want any walking skeletons in mine."

"Be sure and have a good line of shoes when we marry, so you won't have to call on me for new ones immediately," he wrote Miss Ferguson, and when the girl resented this, his next letter told her he would employ a shoemaker to do nothing but make her shoes.

"A kiss from my sweetheart and a big piece of blackberry cake are the only things I like better than baked beans," was the entire contents of one of his letters.

Kennedy and Miss Ferguson became acquainted through her answering an "ad" in a matrimonial paper which Kennedy's hired hand had inserted, signing Kennedy's name as a John Kennedy made several trips to Kentucky to see Miss Ferguson but last year decided that he did not want to marry her at all and broke the engagement.

Kennedy is sixty-four years old and Miss Ferguson thirty-five.

AN ENGAGEMENT.

The engagement was announced yesterday afternoon of Miss Sophie Borel and John M. Lewis of San Francisco.

Miss Sophie Borel is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Borel, and with her sister, Miss Alice Borel, has since her debut been one of the most prominent girls in San Francisco society, and at San Mateo, where the magnificent summer home of the Borels is situated. The engagement of Miss Alice Borel and Aylett R. Cotton was announced several months ago, and a circumstance that lends added interest to both betrothals is the close friendship existing between Mr. Cotton and Mr. Lewis. They were college mates at Stanford and after their graduation went together to Mexico and later to the Philippine Islands. Mr. Lewis is the son of Dr. William E. Lewis, the capitalist, and is an attorney with a large practice in San Francisco.

An elaborate tea was given yesterday at the Borel home to announce the interesting betrothal, and several hundred friends were present.

Mrs. Borel and her daughters were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Aylett R. Cotton, Miss Claudine Cotton, Mrs. Irving Lewis, Mrs. Grove, the sister of Mr. Lewis, and Miss Albertine and Miss Irene Grove.

The Borel family will leave within a short time to spend the winter in Switzerland, and the wedding will not take place until their return in the spring.

The marriage of Miss Hazel V. Camp and Dr. Elmer E. Evans took place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Camp, of East Oakland. The assembled guests were surprised with the announcement that the sister of the bride, Miss Nettie I. Camp, will soon become the bride of C. F. Berlinger, of Fruitvale.

The marriage of Miss Camp and Dr. Evans was solemnized under a bower of marguerites and smilax entwined with pink satin ribbon. The Rev. Charles R. Brown officiated. The bride was gown in white silk mull over tulle, and carried a shower of bride's roses.

turn they will make their home in East Oakland.

ART EXHIBIT.

The following clipped from the Sacramento Daily Union is of interest to many friends about the bay:

Mrs. Laura Prather Waterbury will give an exhibition of her miniature paintings at John Brenner & Co.'s store on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. This is the first exhibit of her work Mrs. Waterbury has held in Sacramento, although not on the coast, for her work has figured at the art displays at Vickery's, the Century Club and the San Francisco Art Association of San Francisco. Her work was placed in the Paris Exposition of several years ago, and she was one of five artists on the Pacific coast whose work was accepted by the art directors of the St. Louis Exposition.

Irving M. Scott, the noted founder of the Union Iron Works, was a great admirer of Mrs. Waterbury's works as he was of William Keith's and he had her paint pictures of all the members of his family. Some of her paintings have appeared from time to time in the San Francisco papers, notably the Call, which reproduced her portraits in its Sunday editions for several months in 1902. Among Mrs. Waterbury's best known miniatures are those of Mrs. Phelan, mother of ex-Mayor James D. Phelan; Mrs. P. M. Smith, wife of the "Borax King" of Oakland; Mrs. James Sullivan, wife of the noted railroad man of New York,

Mrs. H. H. Webb, wife of the wealthy mining man of Johannesburg, Africa; Mrs. B. B. Cutter, Mrs. Col. Mendell of San Francisco and General Shafter.

Next week Mrs. Waterbury's pictures will be exhibited in the San Francisco Art Association, San Francisco, where they have been loaned for that purpose.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marion Speddy, and the groom was supported by Ernest Livingston. The bride is one of the prettiest girls of the Encinal city and is a daughter of Thomas H. Speddy, of 855 Cedar street. The groom is the son of Colonel Reed Jones and is one of the promising young business men on this side of the bay.

The young couple will enjoy a brief honeymoon trip and on their return will make their home in Alameda.

WHY KAUFMANN IS FAVORITE IN BETTING RING

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Friday night at Woodward's Pavilion Al Kaufmann and Jack O'Brien will meet, and to Kaufmann it means that he will either go on in his chosen profession, and try to reach the championship goal or go back to the blacksmith shop and forget that he ever knew that there are such things as boxing gloves. To O'Brien it does not mean quite so much, as Jack has already met defeat; but just at this time it would mean more to him than at any other time in his long career.

There are several experts in the East that think Jack has begun to go back, and to be beaten by a novice would be to give those critics a chance to say that he was all in. This fact would hurt the Philadelphia as a drawing card, and as O'Brien likes the glory that follows a winning fighter as well as the money, there is no doubt but that he will be trying every minute.

That Kaufmann is the favorite in the betting has caused some talk as to what right he has to be on the long end of the betting. The one reason above all others is that the "Frisco" bettors always back their favorites at any old odds until they lose a fight.

As to Kaufmann's chances? I am of the opinion that he has a royal chance of winning. If Kaufmann is as game as he gives every evidence of being and can stand a beating he should sooner or later land one of those sleep-producing punches on his shifty opponent, and judging from the way he has bowled over his previous opponents, it will not take more than one to put most any fighter to rest.

In talking to Harry Foley the other day, I asked him just how Kaufmann acted and how he came to land the punch on him that put poor Harry away. Foley's answer and the description of how it came off made me think all the better of the ex-blacksmith's chances. Foley went on to tell me how he felt at the big fellow and stepped on one side, when all of a sudden something hit him from some place and, as Foley describes it, his head hit the mat before his feet did and the fight was over. Now what impressed me is this: no one will deny that Foley is a very clever boxer, in fact there are few men in the business who can outbox him; it is the lack of stamina and ability to take punishment that kept Foley from being in the front ranks. Now, if he hit Foley from "some place," as he (Foley) expressed it, and he being a clever man in one round, why, if Kaufmann is game and can stand a grueling contest can he not catch O'Brien inside twenty rounds?

O'Brien argues that he will use more precaution than Foley and also says that if Kaufmann keeps after him that he will knock the big fellow out. Jack claims that Kaufmann comes strong with the men he has fought because they could not hit him hard enough to hurt him, but argues that he will stop Al's rushes early in the game.

This may all be, but that takes us back to Kaufmann's unknown quality: can he stand the punishment, and leaves us there to guess?

The argument has been advanced that Kaufmann is too young in the game to tackle O'Brien. But there is the extra weight that Al will carry along with the determination to offset this. In fact, I am of the opinion that a new fighter is, like one of our famous generals, said of the volunteer soldiers in war: "They were the best fighters because they did not know when they were beaten."

When Britt fought Erne it was a novice against a seasoned fighter and it was this fact more than any other that Erne pinned his faith to. When I asked Erne if he expected any trouble, he replied, "Well, if Britt knocks me down my past experience will carry me through, but if he goes down he is gone."

The next day I asked Britt what he would do if he got knocked down and his reply was, "I am not going to be knocked down."

This shows the difference in fighters of great experience and novices; one, if he gets hit, wonders where it came from; when the other fellow gets hit he thinks it was an accident.

Then, again, after a man has been fighting eight or nine years he knows when he is beaten and goes down and stays there if he thinks his opponent has him beaten, but an amateur will keep coming and trying until he is put away for good. And as long as a man is trying he always has a chance. These are the reasons Kaufmann is on the long end of the betting, and it will be with the greatest interest that form students will watch him tomorrow night.

According to the conditions under which De Oro holds the championship emblem, he has forty days in which to play the challenger, or surrender the title and emblem. De Oro is at present in Cleveland, Ohio.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

Expert Discusses Points of the Game.

The following article on association football, and how to play it, was written exclusively for THE TRIBUNE by a local player and expert on the game.

Forwards and backs! Hard as it is at the beginning of the term, when study cupboards are full of boxes and this, between meals, don't drink more than half a pint of liquid at each meal, and don't have more clothing on your bed than is necessary to keep you healthy warm. If there is a chance, run a series of 100-yard sprints in the crisp evenings before your first meal of the day. It is a fact in the opening matches and games, when the Games Committee are on the lookout for coming men.

Most of you will not know just what part of the field you will have allotted to you permanently, and so in your "toeing" you will have plenty to work at. If you think you have the makings of a goalkeeper in you, you will do well to get all the experience you can in practice runs when everyone is punting at goal.

A cool head is the first essential. Never get flustered; a cool, immovable goalkeeper often makes what looks like a certain goal, for by his coolness he nonpluses the attacking forward. See that each foot becomes as sure a kick as the other, each arm capable of a long throw-out. The left arm and the left foot being in the case of most people weaker than the right, constant practice must be given to ensure the desired proficiency.

A great many people imagine that football is a game in which brute force is the only essential, and the rougher the player the better. But there never was a greater mistake. Strength is necessary, of course, especially in the backs, but only to be carefully guided by the brain. Cultivate the habit of taking in the various positions of your side in the field at a glance, so that you may, if possible, put the ball near someone who is for the moment unmarked.

Lastly, be careful in returning a shot, never to place the ball in front of your goal. A good axiom for all the field and especially for backs especially, is, "Go for the ball, and not for the man."

"CALL ON WIRES." A good team playing the modern game should have one man in the field, and the ball is on wires, and this is only possible by each member keeping to his place, and resisting the temptation to try something brilliant in dribbling when he ought to have passed, or fed an unmarked forward. Individual dribbles were the best thing a few years ago, but it is bad play today.

The goalkeeper and the backs should be amongst the strongest men on the field, as generally the roughest part of the game falls to their share. Backs and half-backs should be careful never to dribble except under special and favorable circumstances; their mission is to diligently keep their forwards, passing with a possible, and never making gallery kicks.

Many important matches have been lost by careless kicking. Kicking with the wrong part of the foot. Many of the players rarely kick the ball with their feet. The only time the ball should be kicked without it being almost impossible to kick the ball with any certainty, as the point of contact is so small.

KICKING THE BALL. The most important way of kicking the ball is kicking with the instep. First, there is volleys with the instep, which is impossible to volley any other way—the instep means to use a half-circle into which the ball fits, and the return, if properly directed, is nearly sure to be fairly accurate—care being taken in volleys to get the instep well under the ball.

When a pass is to be given, or a volley is to be sent right up the field, the instep should be quite so much under the ball as the heel. The kick being hard and low. For short passes the foot is invariably used when traveling at full speed with the ball—the slightest turn of the foot will send the ball to pass the ball neatly to an unmarked man—the foot being turned according to the angle at which you wish to send the ball. For a long pass, it is absolutely necessary to use the instep.

It is that the knee, in shooting, in shooting ways be over the ball. In this way the instep comes well under the center of the ball, and your shot is sure to be hard and low, and the direction will be quite accurate. If the knee is pointing straight instep in the center, as before directed.

If the player wishes to increase the power of his shot he will bring his right arm back, and when he has the ball, and if he should be making a shot while he is on the run, this again will accelerate the pace at which the ball is projected.

The great point which the novice should bear in mind is this—when shooting, keep the knee over the ball. Keep on repeating this, put it into practice, and you won't regret it. Before a kick is made, observe the various positions of the field, I should like to emphasize one point, and that is—play to the whistle. Now take or argue with the referee—it is very bad form and does no good. Play hard until the whistle goes, and at the end of the game you will, probably, have nothing to regret.

THE GOALKEEPER. As everyone knows, this is, perhaps, one of the most unpleasant positions on the field, as very often he is left absolutely alone at the last to protect the goal. As a general rule the goalkeeper should never leave his position, but there are times when a dash made at the right moment often relieves a situation, and gains a good deal of ground for his side. He should be a good left-hand man, and should be able to catch the ball with his hands. In this way the goalkeeper can run forward if the ball should drop a few yards behind him, and he can run backward should the ball come over his head.

THE BACKS. Full backs should be fast, able to kick well with either foot, and should not be afraid to charge, using the whole of their weight when the right opportunity presents itself. Each back should remember the man he has to mark; that is, the inside forward opposite to him; but when his colleague is called into active play, he should try to back him up by retiring a little behind him, and when he is called to render intelligent assistance whenever it is most needed. A back should also be able to pass with either foot, his brother back or to the goalkeeper, if the pass will afford a safer opportunity of getting rid of the ball.

HALF-BACKS. The ideal half-back is a good combination of the forward and the full back. They should mark their man well, should be able to pass with either foot, while the center makes himself responsible for the center-forward, their motto should be—Back up your forwards,

JACK CASSON, of the Albion Rovers Football Club.

In Association football circles there is no more prominent figure than the above gentleman. Mr. Casson was the first captain of the Rovers' team, and for the past two or three seasons he has been an active member of the club, and has also held positions in the California body. This season he is League Delegate of the club, and also holds the distinctive position of chairman of the Selection Committee. He was for many years an official referee, and while in that position gave general satisfaction to all teams and spectators. Before coming to this country he won many medals in England, playing with some of the best teams there. Even now Jack can give some of the younger players pointers as to how to play the game.

and don't neglect your backs; shoot if occasion arises, and if you are in a better position than your forwards.

FORWARDS. The five forwards of the successful football team should work together in such a way that the ball seems to be on wires. The fastest men among the forwards should always be put on the outside wings, left and right.

Extremes are never good, and, to my mind, a wise captain will go in for a combination of short and long passing—his team keeping the ball as low as possible on the ground. The man who puzzles and tempts the back is the man who passes quickly with the outside or the inside of the foot, and this needs constant practice. We have had rally in our goal line, let us say; brought the ball up the left wing, centering half way, passed out again to the right, who in turn center hard just out of reach of the last back; now for the shot and a certain score! Shoot cross-ways, the great left-hand corner seems least guarded, keeping the ball low for preference, although a good forward must be guided by circumstances and do just what seems best at the moment.

In attacking, do anything almost, but do it quickly, and let the other forwards hammer the back as much as possible. Lastly, remember backs and halves should be able to head the ball well, and forwards often lose more than they gain by so doing, and should, as a rule, avoid it.

In the game played yesterday at Idora Park between Tacoma and Oakland, Tacoma was victorious. The feature of the game was the great left-hand catch by Kruger in the right garden. He caught the ball on a dead run and held it securely. Oakland made six errors. Kaley and Francis being responsible for two each.

PLEASANTON, Oct. 26.—Charles de Ryder, the noted driver, arrived here today from the East with a carload of horses, among which is Star Pointer, the famous pacer with a record of 1:59 1/4, and two colts by Crescens. MAY ELIMINATE FOOTBALL FROM FAIR HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., October 26.—President Eliot of Harvard has determined that brutality and unnecessary roughness shall cease in football played by Harvard teams, or that football itself shall be eliminated from the athletic curriculum of the university.

At the Yale-Harvard game in the stadium next month President Eliot will sit near the side line as a critic of the play. If there is any slugging he will recommend to the corporation that Harvard cease playing intercollegiate football.

The corporation could undoubtedly so vote, and, football, with Harvard left out, would receive a stunning, if not a knockout, blow.

President Eliot is no warm friend of football as played today. His reports have frequently been hostile, but he has yielded to public opinion. In his recent resolve he was backed up by President Roosevelt and influential members of the faculty and corporation.

INGLESIDE IS STRIVING TO OPEN ON DEC. 11 PUNTING CUP

It has been definitely decided to reopen the Ingleside track on December 11th, so that Christmas and New Year handicaps will be decided over that course. Many improvements are in progress at Ingleside, and visitors and racegoers will be delighted when they next see the track.

Judge Pettengill yesterday telegraphed the California Jockey Club from New York as follows: "T. H. Griffin leaves November 15th and wishes fifteen stalls reserved. T. H. Ryan leaves here in time to reach Oakland the morning of the opening of the season. W. Cahill leaves after the Washington Park meeting; expects to purchase several more horses, Frank Reagan, Kelly, Henshall, Angarola, James Blute, Webb, Tichenor and Hackett mailed entries on Monday."

The Kelly referred to in the above dispatch is doubtless F. W. Kelly, who has The Huguenot, Very Best, Lineal and who also trains the horses owned by D. J. Grant Lyman.

The Chicago Daily Racing Form is authority for the announcement that Denny Brothers of Kentucky are to race at Oakland and Ingleside this season. This firm owns among others, Two Bells, and Charles California, not horse Stanton. The entries of Denny Brothers have not reached here.

John Condon is now the biggest owner of race tracks in America—at least in point of number. In addition to his recent purchase of the control in interest in the Crescent City Club track at New Orleans, he owns Harlem outright. He also has stock in all the New California Jockey Club tracks, the North track, the Oakland track at Hot Springs and is a stockholder in the Memphis Jockey Club.

L. Ezell was very much pleased with the record of the Flying Torpedo looked when he reached California. At the present time he is doubtful as to whether Flying Torpedo will stand training. Ezell says that the Flying Torpedo has fooled him several times before, and he would not attempt to get him ready for the races.

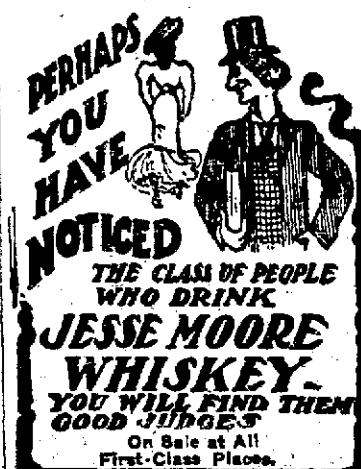

CORBETT AND ERNE IN RING NO SIDE BET TO THIS FIGHT

PHILADELPHIA, October 26.—Young Erne of this city had a trifle the better of Young Corbett last night in their six-round fight at the Washington Sporting Club. His advantage was so slight that some of the spectators were inclined to call it a draw. Both men put up a fast fight. Corbett was the aggressor but was not quite fast enough, as the local man usually landed first.

In the opening round Corbett sent Erne to the floor and after that the Philadelphia fought very cautiously. Erne landed the greater number of blows. He frequently jabbed Corbett and then went into a clinch before the latter could retaliate.

Gardner posted his money as per contract. Sullivan came through with $1,000, which he placed as a forfeit for the rest of the bet. Last night, at Sullivan's house, there was another meeting, and it was agreed that the money should be drawn down and that there should be no side bet at all. No dark secret was made of this move. In fact, one of the reasons assigned by Sullivan for his action was that the bet he called off was that just now the public is very wary of accepting such things on their face value, and, in view of the existing suspicion, it would be best to call off the bet without any ado, and to say no more about it.

This was not at all pleasing to Gardner, however. His brother-manager, George, said last night: "I have been feeling for the past two or three days that something like this was coming off. In fact, I had heard that this fellow Sullivan wanted to pull down his money. When we made the match with these people it was on the condition that they bet. However, I have agreed to call the thing off, so what's the use of saying any more about it?"

BOARD AND SCHOOL DISCUSS NEW CHARTER OF ALAMEDA

West Enders Would Have a Freeholders' Charter for Encinal City.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 26.—At the meeting of the West Enders last night the committee appointed to report on the advisability of a new charter filed their report and in their statement placed particular stress on the fact that Alameda should adopt a Freeholders' charter it would be impossible for this city to be annexed to Oakland without the consent of the voters.

REASONS GIVEN BY THE COMMITTEE FOR A NEW CHARTER FOLLOW, IN THE MAIN: First—A charter based on experience, should be better than one drafted as an experiment.

Second—The charter of Alameda was never designed for a city of Alameda. The city being limited to cities with a population between 5000 and 10,000, and naturally Alameda has outgrown the charter.

Third—A charter such as Alameda operates under at the present time is subject to the will of the legislature, and a measure that would be beneficial to some towns of the fifth class might work a decided harm on others.

Fourth—The present charter does not provide for a chief executive charged with the duty of enforcing the local charter provisions and laws.

Fifth—The new charter would add to the prestige of Alameda, which is subject to the will of the legislature, in reality it belongs to the third class.

Sixth—A new charter would relieve the city from the whims of legislation and designing legislators.

Seventh—It would be controlled by general law.

Eighth—The present charter contains many provisions that are misleading.

The last reason given by the committee and the one that was given the most time for discussion was the fact that the legislature can amend the charter without the consent of the people, and that there is a probability that Oakland may annex Alameda.

REFUSES TO SING KING'S HYMN

H. HOMER HENLEY CAUSE OF DISCUSSION IN GRACE CHURCH.

Baritone S. Homer Henley and two others unnamed refused to join with the rest of the Grace Church choir in singing "God Save the King" on Sunday night "refused spectacularly," as Rector David Evans puts it. Now the rector states that he is going to "have a talk" with the singers who wouldn't sing.

God save our gracious King,
Long live our noble King,
God save the King;
Send him victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us,
God save the King.

What makes Henley's case still more serious is his statement that it is not his first offense and, possibly, not his last.

The occasion was the celebration of the centenary of the Battle of Trafalgar on Sunday evening in Grace Episcopal Church, where members of the British societies of San Francisco to the number of 400 gathered to commemorate the fact that 100 years ago Lord Nelson defeated the enemies of England on the sea. All went smoothly until after the singing of "America," when Dr. Evans suggested that the choir should follow with "God Save the King." In the choir—as in the membership of the church—the English element is strong, but there are some native Americans among the singers, and it is stated that they unanimously decided to be no part of their duty to sing a hymn upon a foreign potentate. At any rate, it was noticed that during the singing of the British national anthem some members of the choir were mute, and it is also alleged that some of the congregation left the church when the national hymn of Great Britain started. According to members of the congregation, who are not in favor of inserting British anthems in the American service, a similar thing happened last year, at which time great dissatisfaction was expressed.

Dr. Evans last night declared that there was no discussion in the church or choir over the singing of "God Save the King," and that the matter would be settled amicably.

REFUSED TO SING.

The rector then made the following statement: "One member of the choir rather spectacularly refused to sing the British anthem. I understand that he and one or two others did not unite in the singing. I did not notice that any of the congregation left at that time, though it is the usual custom for many people to leave the church just before the sermon. I have served in St. George's Church, New York, and in other leading Episcopal places of worship, and I have heard the British anthem sung there without a word of protest. I have even heard 'America' sung in English churches on the other side, and it was always received with favor.

I intend to have a talk with the members of the choir who made the protest. So far as I know, he will not be asked to resign or disciplined in any way. I cannot say as yet whether or not I will bring the matter to the attention of the vestry."

"I certainly refused to sing 'God Save the King,' said S. Homer Henley, the member of the choir who is said to be the object of Dr. Evans' remarks. "I am one of the three Americans in the choir, and I believe we were united on that point. I have nothing against the King of England, but I did not feel that I ought to take part in singing the anthem. Last night I was visiting some English friends of mine, and I joined heartily in singing the anthem, and a number of other British songs, but I did not feel that I could do that in church. I did not see any of the congregation leaving, nor was I in a position to do so. Last year the same thing happened, and I refused then to sing the anthem, and if the matter comes up again in the church I will follow exactly the same course."

"TEDDY" HOWARD INJURED

Miss Edwanda Howard of the Oscar Dane Company recently met with a severe accident by falling from a ladder which gave way under her weight. It was during the closing scene of Dr. Jockyly and Mr. Hyde, and although greatly stunned by the fall, having sustained a severe dislocation of the elbow joint, she recovered sufficiently, and realizing the situation she heroically dragged herself to her dying lever, and sinking down by his side with an expression of such intense distress that it brought down the house with its realism.

Miss Howard is a Berkeley girl and a daughter of Prof. Howard, teacher of languages in the State University, and is widely and popularly known in this vicinity.

BURNED AT FIRE

Six Bodies Were Taken From the Ruins This Morning.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., October 26.—Six bodies have been taken from the ruins of a railroad hotel located at the corner of Elm and Olive streets here, which was damaged by fire early today. Of these two unidentified are charred beyond recognition.

The dead:

HARRY BRADLEY, a waiter.
EDWARD SNYDER, a porter.
MRS. MACK, a musician.
A. L. MANN, railroad conductor, believed to be from Denver.

TWO UNKNOWN MEN.

The ruins have not yet been thoroughly searched, and there may be other bodies in them.

The hotel is a two-story frame building containing thirty rooms, all but one of which were occupied by from one to four persons each.

The hotel was patronized by invalids and cripples who were under treatment.

The fire is believed to have been caused by an exploding lamp. There was only one narrow exit, that being a stairway, and dozens were compelled to jump from the second story, in many instances in their night clothes. Fred Owerson, of Hot Springs, was probably fatally injured.

FLAGSHIP FOR PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, October 26.—The armored cruiser West Virginia, the vessel which carries President Roosevelt from New Orleans to Hampton roads on his return from the Southland, is the flagship of the armored cruiser division of the North Atlantic fleet, which consists of the Colorado, Pennsylvania and Maryland, in addition to the West Virginia.

These vessels are practically identical in every way, and are the largest warships of the American navy now in commission. They represent the highest type and all that is modern in naval architecture. This formidable division will take its place for the first time in the North Atlantic fleet in time to participate in the reception to the British squadron commanded by Prince Louis of Battenberg, about to visit United States waters. The West Virginia is built on beautiful lines, and cuts the water with the grace of an ocean greyhound, at a speed of twenty-two knots an hour. Her machinery is capable of developing 23,000 horsepower to drive her twin screws.

As the West Virginia is fitted as a flagship, she is admirably adapted to the use of the President, and the spacious quarters provided for the admiral will insure the comfort of the President on his homeward journey.

The West Virginia is commanded by Captain C. H. Arnold, while Rear-Admiral Brownson, commanding the division of which the West Virginia is the flagship, accompanies it on the Presidential trip.

The Colorado is commanded by Captain Duncan Kennedy, and the Pennsylvania by Captain Thomas C. McLean. The Maryland, the fourth vessel of Rear-Admiral Brownson's division, which was undergoing repairs, could not be made ready in time to accompany the command on the southern trip, but will join it in Hampton Roads.

FLAGSHIP FOR PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, October 26.—The armored cruiser West Virginia, the vessel which carries President Roosevelt from New Orleans to Hampton roads on his return from the Southland, is the flagship of the armored cruiser division of the North Atlantic fleet, which consists of the Colorado, Pennsylvania and Maryland, in addition to the West Virginia.

ARMORED CRUISED WEST VIRGINIA, PLACED AT HIS DISPOSAL

These vessels are practically identical in every way, and are the largest warships of the American navy now in commission. They represent the highest type and all that is modern in naval architecture. This formidable division will take its place for the first time in the North Atlantic fleet in time to participate in the reception to the British squadron commanded by Prince Louis of Battenberg, about to visit United States waters. The West Virginia is built on beautiful lines, and cuts the water with the grace of an ocean greyhound, at a speed of twenty-two knots an hour. Her machinery is capable of developing 23,000 horsepower to drive her twin screws.
